

Gaming proceeds may be donated to any eligible charitable or religious groups for purposes that comply with AGLC Charitable Gaming Policies Handbook (CGPH). The recipient group does not need to be a registered charity but must be a recognized non-profit group whose members are not directly related to the members of the donor group.

1. Donations that DO NOT require prior AGLC approval:

- a. Groups may make a total annual donation up to $50,000 to any eligible individual charity or religious group within Alberta, without prior AGLC approval, if;
  - i. The recipient group is a licensed AGLC organization, meaning they hold their own gaming bank account, and in good standing
  - ii. The recipient group deposits the donation into their gaming bank account
  - iii. The recipient group uses donated proceeds in accordance with their currently approved use of proceeds, and
  - iv. The donor group must retain a completed Recipient Agreement for Licensed AGLC groups for their own records. CGPH 5.6

- b. Groups may make a total annual donation up to $5,000 to any eligible individual charity or religious group within Alberta, without prior AGLC approval, if;
  - i. The recipient group is not licensed with AGLC, meaning they do not hold their own gaming bank account, or may only hold a small raffle license (less than $20,000), and in good standing
  - ii. The donor group must ensure the donation's purpose complies with AGLC CGPH, and
  - iii. The donor group must retain a completed Recipient Agreement for Non-AGLC licensed groups for their own records. CGPH 5.6

- c. Groups may make a total annual donation up to $5,000 to any eligible non-profit group outside of Alberta but within Canada, without prior AGLC approval, if;
  - i. The recipient group supports disaster/emergency relief or nationally recognized programs that benefit Albertans
  - ii. The donor group must retain a completed Recipient Agreement for Non-AGLC licensed groups for their own records, and
  - iii. Annual donations out of Alberta must not exceed 75% of all gaming proceeds earned. CGPH 5.7

- d. Groups may make a total annual donation up to $1,000 to any eligible non-profit group outside of Canada, without prior AGLC approval, if;
